The International Institute of Obsolescence Management (IIOM) Certificate training course is based upon the IIOM Framework which provides the context for education, training & experience requirements at each grade of IIOM membership. The four day IIOM authorised course is designed for those who are looking to attain Associate IIOM (AIIOM) level.

Which Course is right for you?

The above courses will run concurrently.

If you do not require an endorsed IIOM Certificate, you should attend the three-day course. A certificate of attendance will be issued by Allan Webb as evidence of the three-day course completion.

If you are embarking on professional development under the IIOM scheme, an additional fourth day is required. On this fourth day, you will undertake additional training modules, take an exam and embark upon a project that requires to be completed and delivered after the course. Upon successful completion of all four days (with associated exam and project), the delegate will receive an IIOM Certificate at Associate Grade.

We hope you find the above training courses of interest to you. Please feel free to contact us at training@allanwebb.co.uk should you wish to book or discuss any aspect of these courses
